

"ESCAPE TO AFRICA"

WE ARE MACMILLAN.
CANCER SUPPORT

During the period 20 - 31 October 2012, my wife Sue and I will be cycling 550km over changing terrain across Africa taking part in the "Escape to Africa" Macmillan Cancer Support cycling challenge.

Some people think we are crazy and mad to do it, others think it is a fantastic thing to do and will support us all the way. I hope if you are reading this, you will be one of those people who will support us.

Starting just east of Nairobi in Kenya, Escape to Africa will take us across rough savannah, through wooded bush land, past the foot of the highest, freestanding mountain in the world, Mount Kilimanjaro, and over the finish line at the largest intact volcanic crater on earth, the Ngorongoro Crater.

In addition to the 7 challenging consecutive days of cycling, we will have to overcome the arid landscape, rough camping, extreme temperatures of freezing at night whilst in the high twenties during the day and raising a large amount of money for this worthy Charity.

We have set the target of raising £10,000 for Macmillan Cancer Support through donations and fundraising events.

You can visit our fundraising page at www.justgiving.com/Fiore2Africa

Please be generous and donate whatever you can afford, knowing that you are making a difference. You can also support this challenge in many ways, donating gifts which can be raffled at one of our future fundraising events and increasing the awareness to all of our Suppliers or Clients. We thank you in advance for all donations received.
